Editor's Note: On Friday September 18th, Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg passed away from complications of metastatic pancreatic cancer. The trailblazing cultural, legal, and feminist icon had been on the Supreme Court since 1993, when she was appointed by President Bill Clinton. She became the second female justice on the bench. According to NPR, in the days leading up to her death she dictated a statement to her granddaughter Clara Spera: "My most fervent wish is that I will not be replaced until a new president is installed."
